BICS Seawolves Spirit and Sport Wear

This new logo designed by local graphic artist Fenella Jacquet activates the BICS logo designed by Xwalacktun into our new sports mascot and celebrates our new school sports team's name: The Bowen Island Seawolves!

Orca whales are also known as Seawolves in some coastal Northwestern First Nations cultures because of their unique social and hunting habits. They are admired for their strength and teamwork, as Seawolves live and hunt in groups, called pods that are very community-minded, and they always work together! Seawolves are all about teamwork and supporting each other.

We don't have a name for our mascot yet, but as we gear up with new jerseys and banners, we hope the whole school will get on board with cheering for the Bowen Island Seawolves! School spirit ordering this year features the new logo and it is available to order in some orca-inspired colour t-shirts, jerseys, and hoodies. November 12th is the deadline. Order yours today!
