DESIGN

Now the learners begin to hammer out the initial framework for the solution they are developing. The starting points for this stage are our two key focal points again: the audience and the purpose.

- Design components: Suitability for the audience and purpose
- Information components: what information is needed to complete this task?

DELIVER

In this phase, there are two separate stages:

- Produce and Publish. This involves the action for completing the product (Produce), and presenting the proposed solution (Publish)
