Book Signing - Monday April 3rd

We are very fortunate to have a parent in our community who is a childrens author and who has recently published a book call 'The Red Path: Fear'. The author is Nima Sheikhy and he will be at the Learning Commons on Monday April 3rd from 1.30-3.30pm to do a book signing. For every copy sold, Nima will generously donate $5 to the CPAC. The paperback copy is $20 and the hardcover is $30.

As a way to comfort his daughter, Nima created this original story more than a decade ago. The book is about fear for any age (4-104). It teaches us that with five deep breaths and a little wisdom, we can all face our fears and discover a world of wonder. You can learn more about the background of this book by following this link - <https://www.youtube.com/shorts/jMuuUzax2dk>

Planning Ahead

We are already starting to think about the next school year and our call for nominations for positions on the CPAC Executive and Committee Chairs will happen shortly after Spring Break. For the CPAC to continue to operate to its full potential and to be able to fully support the Chartwell Community there does need to be a volunteer who wants to become Treasurer.

Please reach out to tamzyn.jones@gmail.com with any questions you might have about the role (time commitment, experience etc). There will be a full handover of the role and continued support into the next school year plus there are many other resources who can provide guidance & help along the way!
