DESIGNING THE FUTURE

After School Program

For 25 years, Artmania has been inspiring young creators through innovative, hands-on arts and design programs.

This fall, Chartwell students in Grades K–7 can step into the world of contemporary architecture—designing, building and experimenting like real architects.

Students will explore architecture, engineering, art and sustainable design as they create exciting 3D projects using a wide variety of materials. From bamboo structures and futuristic tunnels to imaginative public spaces, every project encourages children to think creatively, solve problems and bring their own ideas to life.

No previous experience is needed. Projects are adapted for different ages and abilities, allowing younger students to build confidence while older students are challenged to develop more sophisticated designs.
